These instructions follow the steps to upload your audition video through the YouTube app using a smartphone or tablet. Make sure you record your audition video in a quiet, well-lit space to ensure the best video quality. If you have any questions, please email Jenna Bellamy (production@virginiasamfordtheatre.org).

 Download the YouTube app if you do not already have the app on your phone or device

 Open the app and select the "video camera" icon on the top menu bar

You may either record your audition video now by selecting "record" or choose a previously recorded video from your library. The most recent videos in your library will appear near the top.

7. Your video will begin to upload. Stay on this screen to ensure it loads successfully. (If loading fails, give it another try. Also, check your internet connectivity.)

 Once your audition video is uploaded, select the three dots next to the video to bring up the menu.

 Tap the "share" on the menu to bring up the next menu of sharing options.

How to Adjust YouTube Video Settings

- . Sign into YouTube and go to the menu.
- . Select "Your videos" from the menu.
- . Click on your audition video to open it.
- Once it's open, click on "Edit Video" in the lower right-hand corner.
- Under "Audience," choose
  "No, it's not made for kids."
- . Under "Visibility," choose "Unlisted."
- When you are done, click "save." You did it!
